Readings From Baltimore

Celebrate the New CityLit Project - University of Baltimore Partnership and the Grand Opening of UB’s Barnes & Noble Bookstore

John Barry
Raven Ekundayo
Michael Kimball
Kimberley Lynne
Susan McCallum-Smith
Jen Michalski
Michael Salcman
Jennifer Wallace
Elissa Weissman

Wednesday, September 29, 2010
7:00 - 8:30pm
B&N Fitzgerald Building
Corner of Mt. Royal and Oliver
Gather Afterward at Mt. Royal Tavern
410-274-5691
Readings From Baltimore

John Barry teaches writing at MICA, is a contributor to City Paper and Radar Redux, and is a co-curator of the New Mercury Reading Series.

Raven Ekundayo CEO of Ravolution Media, editor-in-chief of ExcapethematriX magazine, and impresario of the Storytellers series at the Eubie Blake Cultural Center.

Michael Kimball is author of three novels, including Dear Everybody, and co-curator of the 510 Reading Series. He is also a film-maker and creator of “Michael Kimball Writes Your Life Story (on a Postcard).”

Kimberley Lynne is a playwright and author of A Dickens of a Carol and Dredging the Choptank. A leader in Baltimore’s theater scene, she is the theater events coordinator at the University of Baltimore.

Susan McCallum-Smith is a writer and editor of fiction, nonfiction, and reviews. Her collection of short stories, Slipping the Moorings, was released in early 2009 and she is the literary editor for Urbanite.

Jen Michalski is editor of the on-line literary magazine JMWW, editor and contributor to City Sages: Baltimore, and co-curator of the 510 Readings. Her collection Close Encounters was published in 2007.

Jennifer Wallace teaches poetry, academic writing, and ecology at MICA. She also coordinates the Language, Literature, and Culture Minors Program. She is a co-editor at toadlily press.

Elissa Weissman is an adjunct professor at the University of Baltimore. She writes fiction for youth in middle grades, and is the author of Standing for Socks, The Trouble with Mark Hopper, and Nerd Camp. 